Forgotten Books, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 229 x 152 mm. Language: English Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Biennial Report, 1881 The changes wrought in the commercial, manufacturing and social condition of Illinois during the past two decades has demonstrated the legislative necessity of keeping pace with the ever-varying phases of life which the increase of population has wrought, as well as the solution of the problem which wealth and pauperism - increasing in a greater or less ratio as they are treated with intelligence or ignorance - demand from the representatives of a peoplewho can do much to eradicate crime and inhumanity by wise and just legislation. We do not hold to the idea that all wrongs can be righted by law-making, neither do we maintain that it is the duty of the law-makers of our State to attempt to pass upon the vagaries or whims of every agitator who may come to the surface with his panacea for industrial wrong in A bill for an act, but it is certainly the part of good statesmanship and sound judgment to so arrange matters which lie within the province of the General Assembly that the scales of justice, when applied to questions which affect the life, health, morals and prosperity of the working people of the State, may hang in even balance. That the contrary of the latter proposition, in many cases, is true, is too plainly evident to your Commissioners to require any lengthy argument. The causes vary as applied to different industries, but are plainly traceable to the cupidity and heartlessness of employers in the industries where such wrongs exist, and are oftentimes prompted by revenge for strikes and agitation to obtain higher rates of wages by employes, as well as being...
