THEOLOGY AND VIVISECTION.1 There is in the whole world no cruelty more cruel than ignorance, and it is this cruel ignorance which we, by experiment, seek to dispel. -- Sir William Gull. The results of experiments on living animals have been of inestimable service to man, and to the lower animals, and the continuance and extension of such investigations is essential to the progress of knowledge, the relief of suffering, and the saving of life. --The recorded opinion of the General Meeting of the British Medical Association, 1892. The law of sacrifice is the law of life, which no one can escape; and, provided it is conducted with reverence, of necessity, and under supervision, I regard experimental research not as a mere privilege, but as a moral duty. --Sir Andrew Clark. Experiments on living animals are as necessary to the further...
